ABOUT RISK ADVISORY

At Deloitte, we work with clients across many industries to flag, analyze, evaluate and manage strategic and operational risks while seeking opportunities to create value by solving the most demanding business challenges in today's evolving and volatile risk environment. Businesses across the world rely on Deloitte for advice and direction when evaluating these risks. We recognize the importance of mitigating risk – and the opportunities taking the right decisions can create for our clients.

Our distinctive combination of specialist skills, pioneering technology, industry expertise characterized our team who help our client to build effective risk strategies in the following areas:

- Cyber Risk Services: At Deloitte, we believe cyber confidence is possible. We consult with organizations to define their cybersecurity resilience helping prevent, detect and respond to cyberattacks. We call this approach being secure, vigilant and resilient.
- Strategic & Reputation Risk: Help organizations identify and manage the risks that are most impactful to the long term success of the c-suite and board. Starting with helping organizations and boards gain insight into the requirements and expectations of best-in-class corporate governance, areas of focus include: holistic enterprise risk management; assessing, managing and exploiting the impacts of marketplace disruption and innovation; anticipating and managing risks that impact an organization's brand and reputation; anticipating, responding to and recovering from crisis events; and gaining insight and assurance relating to corporate sustainability programs.
- Regulatory Risk: Help organizations manage the full life-cycle of regulatory risk, including: the development of strategies, structures and processes to anticipate and adapt to changes in the regulatory environment; design, assess, and transform the process, controls, and infrastructure needed to address the wide variety of specific regulations and regulatory risks; and respond to specific breakdowns in their regulatory compliance programs.
- Financial Risk: Help organizations manage their financial risk areas by helping design and implement governance, processes, models, data, technology, and reporting, including full transaction life-cycle support. Our practitioners combine focused experience, deep technical knowledge, leading industry expertise, and a thorough understanding of regulatory requirements with the goal of helping clients enhance transparency, efficiency, effectiveness, compliance, and financial integrity on a sustained basis.
- Operational Risk: Help organizations transform the ways in which they leverage people, third-party relationships, technology, data, business processes, and controls to address their operational risks and elevate business performance. The practice assists organizations in developing integrated, strategically-aligned risk management solutions that allow organizations to make optimized business decisions and drive them towards being a truly Risk Intelligent enterprise.
